

The little professor brandished a big notebook. "I have it here calculated," he told Gus. "The volume of air is too small."